

Butte Department. FOR A RETURN GAME

Manager McMillan Goes to Denver to Arrange a Football Match.

GRID-IRON AND FIELD GOSSIP

Butte Will Play None But the Very Best Teams—A Big Expense Is Necessary to Bring Teams
Here—Poor Support.

Manager George McMillan will leave for Denver this afternoon to try to arrange a return game with the football team of the Denver Athletic club for Labor day. He will also endeavor to make arrangements for a field day on the Sunday preceding Labor day in which the crack athletes of Montana will be pitted against the brawn and muscle of Colorado. It is known that the Denver footballers have been in constant practice for more than three weeks under the coaching of "Big Yont," the famous Michigan university guard, and they cannot refuse to play on the ground that they are out of condition. Should they be unable to play on Labor day Mr. McMillan will offer them a game late in October. Should they again spring their charge of professionalism in the Butte team and crawl behind this lame excuse McMillan will immediately apply for membership in the Central Amateur Athletic association. Membership in the association cannot be denied Butte, and Denver will then either be compelled to play the smoke eaters or show the white feather.

It is very probable that not more than four football games will be played in Butte this fall and that Reliance, Denver, Chicago and possibly the University of Michigan will be the only teams that will be seen here. The reason for this is that the Butte team has become so strong that it is more than a match for every team in the Northwest and there are some people who ignore or will not believe this fact, and charge that the Buttes have been in the habit of picking out easy games. The people of any other city on earth would take a pride in a football team that could beat all comers, and would give it most liberal support, but, strange as it may seem there are quite a number of Butte people who would like to see their team defeated. Although the Nebraska City team which played here last was the strongest eleven that Butte has ever gone against, with the possible exception of Reliance, the attendance was so small that the receipts fell $480 short of paying the actual expenses of the game. The San Francisco Olympics, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Port Townsend and a dozen other northwestern teams have applied for games in Butte this fall but Manager McMillan has refused to sign contracts with them for the reason that he does not believe they would draw large enough crowds to pay expenses. There will be no more easy games and football teams that play in Butte hereafter must be the best in the country.

Reliance will play two games here—one on Thanksgiving day and the other on the Sunday following.

Charles Baird, who managed the Michigan university team for three years and is now managing the football team of the Chicago Athletic association, has written for a game with Butte late in September. They expect to get a game with the university of Minnesota, and if they do they will play here. The Butte team will not, however, undertake to pay their expenses for a trip clear through from Chicago. Michigan university will also be given a game if it can arrange a game at St. Paul or Omaha so that Butte will not have to bear all of the expenses.

The University of Minnesota would also like to have a game to Butte this fall, but no contract has yet been signed with them. As they have never beaten Yale or Harvard it is considered doubtful if they would draw a crowd in Butte.

Arrangements for the organization of a new athletic club into which the football team will be merged, have reached the point where success seems to be assured. Quarters that could be made perfect with very few changes, have been found in that part of the Tuttle building which faces on Quartz street and estimates are now being prepared of the expense of making the changes and fitting up the rooms. Manager McMillan has received offers of influential support and soon after his return from Denver a meeting will be called at which the movement will assume tangible form.

THE FAKE

Latest Adventure of "Mind Reader" Grant of Many Alibis.

The fake mind reader and fortune teller, known variously as Grant, Waite, Leslie and by many other names, who cut quite a figure in Butte a few years ago and was compelled to leave the city when his victims became too noisy, and who has since been in trouble in a dozen places or more, has been caught at his old game at Birmingham, Ala., according to a dispatch of Aug. 20, which reads as follows: "Luke Leslie, alias A. A. Waite, a mind reader and clairvoyant, was arrested here last week on a telegram received from Sheriff Ed Baxter of Springfield, Ill., charging him with working a confidence game on a woman dentist in Springfield. Sheriff Baxter and Deputy Marks arrived in the city Tuesday to get the man, but he had instituted habeas corpus proceedings, which are now in progress before Probate Judge Porter."

amination several days ago on the charge of assault in the second degree on Officer E. H. Wey. He decided that there was sufficient evidence on which to hold the defendant and bound him over to the district court. His bonds were placed at $250 and were promptly furnished with John O'Rourke and Simon Hauswirth as sureties.

John Foley was given a hearing on the charge of assault in the second degree on Lillie Winchester, an East Galena street fairy, with whom he had been living. It was shown that he beat the woman unmercifully because she refused to give him any more money, and the court bound him over in the sum of $500. In default of bonds he went back to jail.

D. F. McGinnis, charged with assault in the second degree on Belle McGinnis, his mistress, was dismissed on account of the failure of the prosecuting witness to appear against him.

O. Lucas was dismissed on a charge of disturbance and Charles Maynard, charged with assault in the third degree, paid the costs in the case and was allowed to go.

Pat Is in Demand.
Saratoga, Aug. 24.—"I am of the same mind this morning as last night when I told the associated press I was not a candidate for the office of governor and would not accept the office," said Thomas C. Platt this morning. The statement is emphatic enough, but did not succeed in putting an end to the campaign of Platt's friends headed by Edward Lauterbach, Cornelius Van Cort and Congressman Quigg. "Platt does not want the nomination," said Quigg, "but the nomination wants Platt."

"Platt has said he would not accept the nomination," said Candidate Hamilton Fish, "and I believe he means it. If, however, his name is mentioned in the race, Platt will find himself in the same relative position as was Senator Hill in 1894, not desiring the nomination, but having it forced upon him."

SOME FELONY CASES

Accumulated Criminal Business to Be Disposed of By Judge Speer.

A NUMBER OF INFORMATIONS

Objections to the Final Account of the Executrix of Dr. Phillips' Estate—Her Claims Disputed By the Legatees.

Judge Speer will probably convene his court next week and will call a jury to dispose of the accumulated criminal business. The county attorney has a dozen or more informations prepared which will be filed as soon as court convenes. Unless there is some important and pressing civil business which attorneys may want disposed of court will adjourn again after the trial of the criminal cases.

David Phillips, Rebecca Phillips, Marchman H. Phillips, Mrs. D. H. Mitchell, Eliza Mitchell, Carrie Mabey and Mary A. Snively, legatees under the will of Dr. George W. Phillips, yesterday filed a lot of objections to the final account of the widow as executrix. The first objection is to an item of $2,166.66 as a "reasonable family allowance" from Dec. 19, 1892, to July 30, 1896, at $50 a month "as per decision of the supreme court in the case of Phillips vs. Phillips," wherein the executrix had sued herself. The objection is that the supreme court made no allowance of any kind or for any sum, and that there is nothing due as family allowance and the executrix is not warranted in making any such charges against the estate.

The petition of the executrix, Anna M. Phillips, as the surviving widow, for a family allowance, filed in court on July 7, 1894, was disallowed and rejected by the court, and there is no order of any court making any allowance for the family of the deceased, and the charges of the executrix are illegal and should be disallowed.

The second objection is to an item of $2,000, as a "reasonable outlay for expenses incurred in burial, purchase of lot and monument," in carrying out the dying wishes of the deceased and being $511.25 less, as the executrix says, than she personally advanced. The objection says that the court had already disallowed an item of $867.25 for a monument and no appeal was ever taken from the order and in a final account filed May 3, 1894, the executrix made no claim against the estate for that item, and at that time a balance of $9,659.05 was shown to be in her hands and belonging to the estate. The legatees further object for the reason that the executrix's final account filed in May, 1894, and her annual account as corrected by the court there was as stated, about $9,659.05 on hand, while by her last final account, filed on the 6th of the present month, she claims to have on hand $9,322.55 belonging to the estate and yet has received no assets since the time she filed her last annual account on April 26, 1894, but that she has paid out in expenses since that time $273.50, which should leave in her hands, exclusive of the amount due her as preferred legatee, the sum of $9,049.05. The court is therefore asked to correct her account to show that she has this sum on hand instead of $3,492.39 as she reported, and that the items of $2,166.66 for family allowance and $2,000 for burial expenses be stricken out and disallowed.

The Drummer From Chicago.

Many stories have been told on the drummer, and especially the Chicago drummer; very few, however, are told at his expense. The stories generally go to show how up-to-date an individual he is. He is looked upon as being a keen, smart, practical fellow—one of those fellows that knows a good thing when he sees it, particularly when it is in line with the business he follows. One of that class, who represents a large grocery establishment in Chicago was in the White Front Grocery the other day and said, addressing the proprietor: "You have a very fine retail establishment here; that is a fine assortment of high-grade goods on the shelves."

Those goods are recognized everywhere as being the best; the very best. "You must have a nice class of trade to require those kinds of goods."

Yes, this store has a fine class of trade and good trade, and the reason for it is, apart from a good service and reasonable prices, it is known that
